Wall light with alabaster shade in aged brass

Jervis wall light combines a decadent-feeling brass base with an off-white alabaster shade to create a wall light that is as striking as it is versatile. Reminiscent of a pendulum from a grandfather clock, this wall light could effortlessly complement a traditional room or enhance a shining contemporary space.

Each piece of alabaster is unique, containing its own character with natural veining patterns. As a result, we cannot guarantee each piece will match.
